INSIDE THE CLASSROOM

- We had so much fun learning about the human body in dramatic play and making body art all week!
- We introduced the concept of a graph and graphing by creating visual graphs to determine if our class liked dogs or fish better. Ask your child which one was the favorite in their class.
- During small group time, we sorted ourselves into different categories and we learned how to count backwards from 10!
- We completed several more counting and coloring activities in our Number 5 Learning without Tears booklets! Don't forget to look for those number books which were sent home this week in your child's backpack. There are several more activities along with review pages of the other numbers that you can work on with your child at home!

Our Farm Friends

We completed our investigative study on rabbits by listing all the things we learned about them this month. Visiting with our own Happy Valley rabbit, Jack, helped the children learn about rabbits first hand and they were able to list many important facts about rabbits.

Home Connection:

Our classroom puppet, Mike, discussed feeling disappointed and how we can manage this strong feeling when it happens. The children are practicing what they learn through these lessons and I have seen them using belly breaths and calming techniques during their time at school!

See this week's Second Step Home Link 16 Managing Disappointment attached to our email.
